Conduct Accident Response Drill

On November 10th, 2021, IINO Kaiun Kaisha, Ltd. (IINO) conducted the joint accident response drill with IINO Marine Service Co., LTD. (our Group company).

The drill was conducted under the assumptions that a Chemical Tanker (hereinafter "the vessel") managed by Iino Marine Service Co., Ltd. collided with a Coastal Cargo Carrier when she was transiting in the Kii Channel and fuel oil from the vessel leaked into the sea. We set up an emergency headquarters at the head office, and using online tools, the flow of events from the occurrence of the accident to the mock press conference was practiced, and the series of emergency response process were confirmed, including whether cooperation with internal and external parties and information sharing would proceed smoothly. Furthermore, after the drill, a crisis management consultant conducted a training course to expand our knowledge.

< Training overview >

The vessel collided with a coastal cargo carrier in the Kii Channel, and fuel oil was confirmed to have spilled from the vessel into the sea (training began). We have determined that this is a serious accident and have immediately established an emergency headquarters. Using online tools, we conducted drills on how to respond to accidents, collect information, share information with related parties, and respond to inquiries from outside the company. We also held a mock press conference on the accident.

IINO Group's management philosophy is "Safety is the foundation of our business operations" and "Adapting to social needs and giving full consideration to the environment." We have made safety and adaptation to social needs, including reduction of environmental impact, our top management priorities. By sharing the new knowledge and improvements gained through this drill with the entire Group, we will further strengthen our emergency response system and strive to ensure safe operations.
